

Joomla helpline

Can & Will launches Joomla helpdesk. Can & will has launched Joomla helpdesk services where users can call in and get all Joomla and Joomla component questions answered. This service is useful for following.

Project managers: often project managers want project to be delivered YESTERDAY but don't have idea if here are any Joomla components which can help to reduce the coding time.

End users: Many end users are designing Joomla sites themselves because of ample availability of Joomla templates and Joomla extensions. But at some critical points sometime they get stuck in middle of nowhere and spend time searching for solutions. Now they can consult with can & will and get answers without having to find their way in jungle of code.

Freelancers: Sometimes freelancers are asked to deliver projects in crunch deadlines but they don't have deep knowledge of Joomla which leaves them in a fix now they can just call in and get help.

Consultants: IT consultants are always looking for ways to do their projects in less time, less cost and high quality. Joomla with its ample storage of templates and extensions can reduce costs and time drastically.

How does it work?

Email support: Email support is very cheap solution for users who are not in hurry to finish it costs only $7 per question. You can send as many questions you want. And get replied in 5 working days with solutions in detail.
